Messages by Radio Received at Grand Island Meeting From Presidents of National Organizations.

Grand Island, May 12.—The annual meeting of the Wyoming Woman’s Christian Temperance Union, held in this city, was attended by officers and representatives from the surrounding counties, and out of state as well.

Officers Named at Plattsmouth

Mayor Johnson, Respondent—All Ordinances—Committee

Plattsmouth, May 12.—Chief Judge A. C. Brown, of Nebraska district court, and J. B. French, of this city, were elected at the annual meeting of the Plattsmouth bar association.

Deaths in State

James W. Stein, Grand Island, May 8—James W. Stein, attorney, and son of Mrs. Agnes Stein, of this city, was born at Oakford, Ill., April 9, 1882, and was married to Miss Agnes Schaeffer, of Grand Island, May 28, 1909. He was appointed special refunding agent by the state auditor for Pawnee City next fall, following service as county auditor of Lake county.

COUNCIL CALLS REFERENDUM ON TAX LEVY PLANNED

New city officials organized committee to ask for help. Officers band, and the added drain on the treasury caused the board to suggest the referendum.

One of the leading real estate men in Omaha stated recently that he was as busy as if he had been in the deep water of the deflation years. He generally is paying almost as much as he has to pay for wool locally, and he is particularly paying more for wool than he ever paid in the past.

The price paid is $1.90 per cwt. for fresh wool. For local-ly No. 2, the price is $2.00 per cwt. For wool sold by the county, the price is $2.15 per cwt.

In most quarters a premium is being paid for wool.}

THE NEBBS

WHY CERTAINLY.

I've got to get off a couple more programs. Dinner starts at 6:45, I guess. Next week, I'm going to have a party. There's a little thing, I guess, I'll probably have a little party. And so forth.

Life's Little Jokes—Number 791,002.

Oh, I'm going to have a party. What kind of punch are you going to have at the party?

Well, I think I'll have a big party.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Absalom Herrington

Tilghman had a big party. He was a busy, busy, industrious bloke.

Until Sunday, we had nothing important to do. But come, though he decided how important it was always on time with a date.

SCHOOL REUNION

I had a real day with some important engagements. So I'm a little late.

While M. J. had plenty of time, though, it's too bad we had to call the last to appear!

ABIE THE AGENT

Off, Pajamas! A Present From Uncle Julius!

I certainly thank you for it. What do they get heavy?

Twenty dollars a pair!

TILLIE, THE TOILER

A Date She'll Take Off Mac's Hands.

Don't want to buy a couple more. Said salesman.
