Note From the Editors:

The University of Nebraska at Kearney's Office of Graduate Studies and Academic Outreach, in conjunction with the Calvin T. Ryan Library, is pleased to release Volume 2, Issue 1 of The Graduate Review, a multi-disciplinary, peer-reviewed journal of scholarly work researched and written by UNK graduate students. After the inaugural publication of The Graduate Review in 2021, we have worked tirelessly to collect and review the best scholastic writing of UNK's graduate students. It is our pleasure to publish their work, while also highlighting their passion for their fields of study.

The mission of the Graduate Review is to present the best from all areas of study across UNK's departments in an effort to further education and discovery. As the journal grows, we'd love to see all departments recognized in the volumes to come. Inside this volume, the reader will find works of History, Biology, English, and more. The incorporation of socio-emotional learning into art education as well as the perspective of America's women during World War I, along with many other topics, demonstrate a commitment of UNK's graduate students to their work.

These articles have been crafted by authors with varying ranges of experience and are now available to be viewed by all. Volume 2, Issue 1 is indicative of the dedication of all members involved, including the authors, faculty mentors, peer-reviewers, and editors. We hope you enjoy these pieces.
